

What should I expect when switching propane companies?

Switching to E.M. Sergeant is safe, fast, and most of all EASY! We switch tanks for new customers all the time. Here is how it works-

-One of our Propane Service Technicians will come out to inspect your property to make sure we have everything we need to switch your tank to E.M Sergeant's tank the day we show up.

-On the scheduled day, we switch tanks, perform a leak test, and relight all your appliances. That's It! The entire process takes around an hour.

After we install our tank, you call your current propane company to have them pick up their tank. It's at this point that your current company will try to add fees to pick up and pump your propane out of their tank. Don't worry, we have you covered! For a limited time, E.M. Sergeant will pay up to $150 to your current propane provider to pump out your propane. All we need from you is the invoice that they send you.

Don't have a propane tank currently? Want to move your existing tank?

E.M Sergeant trenches underground propane lines all summer long. Call us today to request a consultation.

Did we mention that we install new furnaces and air conditioners too?
